When overcrowding of shrubs in a garden or foundation planting forces one to consider transplanting them, they should not be dug up with bare roots if they are choice plants which one would not want to run the risk of losing.

In moving choice or valuable shrubs, they should be dug with a ball of earth about their roots, and this ball, in turn, burlapped, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph, so the transplanting can be done without danger of breaking the ball and disturbing the roots. Before digging shrups for transplanting, draw in the spreading branches compactly by tying them about with twine or tape.

A damp, cloudy day, or late in the afternoon, is the best time for transplanting.

Woman Puts Baby in Oven, Suffocates It

Mt. Clemens, Mich., March 21 (P)—A 38-year-old mother of three children who found an eight weeks old baby "too much bother to take care of" pleaded guilty here to a murder charge after the infant died of suffocation.

Assistant Prosecutor Wilbur F. Held said Mrs. Vivian Mathews, wife of an automobile worker, placed her infant son in a heating stove after feeding him last night, saturated a pillow with fuel oil, placed it over the baby and ignited the oil.

Dr. W. A. Sibrans of East Detroit, who performed an autopsy, said that had the child not suffocated, its burns would have been fatal.

Easy Way Now Means a Harder Way Later

ONE of the more disturbing developments in Washington in quite a while is the idea being toyed with by some congressmen of drawing on the treasury cash balance or the stabilization fund for current government expenses.

This is a product of congressional writhing over the situation created by the approach of the deficit to the statutory limit on the national debt. Faced by the alternative of raising the limit or of taxing or economizing to hold the deficit down, the spending type of congressman is unhappy. The two big pots of cash understandingly look to some of them like an easy remedy for what ails them.

Separation Is Important In Garbage Collection

TWO "IMPORTANT FACTORS" in the suc-

operation in making certain separations at the point of origin—at the home—before garbage Queer Plant Eats and other refuse are collected by the city.

This latter regulation is prescribed by Cumberland for the collection of garbage and household trash, and as the association says, the degree to which the individual citizen follows separation regulations will be reflected throughout the disposal operations and contribute directly to the success or failure of this public service.

Requirements governing the separation of garbage and other refuse are based not only on the method of disposal, but in many instances on practical uses to which refuse is put, the association says. For example, if a city uses the hog-feeding method for disposal, the garbage must be separated from other classes of refuse. nones This applies also to paper in which garbage is L-First, second, third and fourth Postal zones This applies also to paper in which garbage is one; six months $3.00; one year $6.00. Shortly after the Pendergast clean-up in Kansas City, the then attorney general, Frank Murphy, who is a real glamor boy both in politics and among the gals, made a crack about cleaning up corruption in American cities. He was not then on the supreme court, and he didn't want to go there. He thought he had an outside chance of becoming heir-apparent to the Great White Throne. This may have had nothing to do with Attorney General Murphy's proposed city cleaning crusade, but if Tom Dewey could become a leading candidate by cleaning one city, what couldn't Frank Murphy do by cleaning ten?

Easing Mother's Nervous Strain

WE'RE GOING Fathers Urged To Help Them Take Care of Small Children

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

I guess fathers know little of the nervous strain to which the average mother of young children is subjected. Since she has no maid, she not only has the burdens of the household, but also the care of the little children.

for attention. Any mother knows about these trying times with the little children at home. If she goes away with the children, even if she has nothing to do but to care for them, she rarely will have a moment to rest and relax. If these children are under five or six, a number of new problems will emerge just because they are not home. There are many new adjustments. Of two or three children, the youngest will likely get nost attention, stirring up feelings

Doctors Take Up Manipulative Treatment

Physician Says Massage Should Be Taught in Medical Schools

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D. There are signs that the regular medical profession is taking up massage and other manipulative treatments. This is a good thing. There is no reason why the benefits of manipulation should remain exclusively in the hands of osteopaths and chiropractors. Massage should be taught in all medical schools and practitioners should use it oftener.

either themselves or by sending the patient to a qualified masseur.

There are many erroneous conceptions of the effects of real massage. A "good" masseur is often thought to be one who gives the hardest treatment. This view is incorrect. Diametrically opposite effects may be obtained in giving massage. Sustained vibration between the scapulae will slow the pulse, while what is called "tapotement," rhythmically tapping in the same place, will quicken it. Way It's Applied

The results of massage depend entirely on the way in which it is applied. It may be sedative or stimulating, or even irritating.

There are five kinds of massage manipulations: (1) Effleurage, which is slow, gentle, rhythmic strokings. It may be deep or superficial. (2) Petrissage, kneading or compress-(3) Friction, which consists of deep, circular, rolling movements, done with one or two fingers or part of the hand. (4) Tapotement, hacking, clapping, cupping or tapping, or beating a part, more or less rhythmically. (5) Vibration, which consists of vibratory movements imparted through the operator's fingers or hands by contractions of his arm and shoulder muscles. The last is one of the most useful forms of manipulation, but it is trying to the unskilled operator, and for that reason is not used enough.

What It's Used For

Massage should be used for (1) muscular atrophy from any cause; (2) to increase metabolism; (3) to lessen scar tissue; (4) to assist circulation; (5) for sedation or stimulation of the nervous system; (6) to improve the skin and its func-

There are certain things that massage will not do. We often hear claims made that massage will reduce weight. The most experienced masseurs with the best training state frankly that they cannot reduce weight by massage alone. The weight loss that occurs from masmage is principally fluid lost through improved elimination, and is quickreplaced in the absence of other

The fact that massage has persisted as a form of treatment through the ages is the best indication of its eternal value.

Questions and Answers

A. W.: "What are the causes of ewelling of the salivary glands? Mine swell about every 10 days. An x-ray shows that there is no stone and I had the mumps a long time

Answer - This is not an easy question to answer. The salivary glands have peculiar nervous or chemical reactions and often swell up with a mild degree of inflammation after an abdomidal operation. They react in the same way to an abdominal crisis, such as a gallstone attack or an attack of ulcer of the stomach. Mikulicz's Disease is an inflammation of the salivary glands and of the lachrymal glands in the eye, but I have never heard of recurrent attacks of this condition. Aside from stones being in the duct, thick saliva might obstruct the duc and cause swelling. Extension of oral infection from the mouth, and contiguity with inflammatory condition of the neighboring structures such as the external canal of the ear, with itching and eczema, might do it. Air gets into the glands; this is not uncommon in glass blowers and cornet players. A final piece of advice would be that the x-ray does not always show a stone and a probe passed in to the duct might be a more reliable method of excluding this possibility.

Bad Temper May Be Turned Dear Miss Fairfax:

I wish the man who wrote to your column about his virago of a wife might know of our experience and see what a calm, good tempered man can do for a bad-tempered woman.

When I first met my husband I had a vicious temper. He never fought back-just ignored me. He declined to speak a harsh word, although I deserved a-plenty. When I realized my temper wasn't getting me anywhere I calmed down. We've been married three years and haven't had a blow-up for two. I feel better mentally and physically, as range is a terrible poison not only to the soul but to the body as well.

Frostburg Church To Give Easter Pageant Sunday

Congregationalists To Present 'The Vanguished Tomb' at 7:30 p.m.

Frostburg, March 21-An Easter drama and pantomime, "The Vanquished Tomb", will be presented by a cast of forty at First Congregational church, Bowery street, Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. J. F. Zimmerman, who has been directing rehearsals for several weeks, states that the presentation will be the most elaborate ever attempted at the church.

The Junior choir, concealed in the vestry of the church, will present the vocal accompaniments. The music of the choir and the voice

Save Democracy at Home, Reynolds Tops U. S. 'Suckers' Warned

Dies Committee Member Tells Of Red Impudence

The greatest accomplishment of the Dies Committee has been to alert the forces of Democracy to subversive influences in the United States which are taking advantage of the fact that every American has a "savior complex, is a professional joiner and almost a professional sucker," Representative Joe Starnes, of Alabama, told 180 guests at the Chamber of Commerce spring banquet last night.

The Communist party was tagged by Representative Starnes as the most potent menace to the American form of government. Well financed and headed by cool, calculating men, the organization is the "most cleverly operated political party in the United States" and is
